WOMAN'S COMMITTEE FOR NATIONAL COUNCIL OF DEFENSE.

Department of Food Production and Home Economics.
County Chairman, Miss Jennie Glass.

Chairman of Food Production, Mrs. H. L. Garnett.

Home Economics, Mrs. T. C. Clark. This is part of the message sent to the local chairmen of these all-important departments for promulgation among the people generally. It is sent by Miss Mary E. Sweney who is state chairman of both these departments in the state work of the Council of National Defense.

We are all beginning to realize that we are at war, but as yet only a few have come to be more concerned about winning the war than anything else in the world. Not many people understand what a price we should have to pay if our Allies fell exhausted by the supreme effort of three and one half years and the battle line should move to the Atlantic coast.

Food is one of the most important factors in our conflict with Germany. Plan to raise enough to feed your family. It is the most effective way of doing military service.

Last year the home gardens and commercial gardening is estimated to have increased the supply of perishable vegetables and fruit 50 per cent. over normal. The canning, preserving and drying and pickling of the surplus has made available a larger amount of food for every one this winter than would have been possible otherwise.

Our allies will need more food next year than ever before. We hope to have a million and a half American soldiers in France and we must ask: What the best of the food is sent to them. To do this you must have your family "hunger proof" from your own garden.

What should you plant? The Home Economics Departments of the Council of National Defense all over the United States are following the plan of the Secretary of the United States Department of Agriculture and urging the planting every available acre of ground in food plants. The slogan should be "Let every household raise enough food to supply themselves". Plant what you like in your garden. When you do not eat, can or dry. Free freight bars by using locally produced foods.

"OWE ONLY TO HEAVEN."

(By International News Service.) Berkeley, Cal., March 8.—Four members of the Church of the Living God were arrested here for failing to register as alien enemies. They declared that they owe allegiance only to heaven. Officers thought otherwise, and locked them up. The prisoners gave their names as Adam Kraft, Lewis Weiss, Charles Kuhl and Erich Koster.

SHEET STEEL REPLACES LINEN IN AEROPLANES.

(By International News Service.)

Pittsburg, March 8.—Seventeen thousand tons of what is believed to be the thinnest sheet steel ever rolled and which is being made into wings for fighting planes on the western front is being turned out by one of the local steel companies for the United States Government. The sheet steel is to supplant the linen fabric wings now in use.

The sheet steel is described as being thinner than ordinary paper and very flexible. It is expected to minimize the danger from German bullets, since instead of the jagged tear made by a bullet in a linen fabric wing and which is enlarged by the wind, a clean-cut perforation is made in the steel and neither endangers the aviator nor interferes with his flying.

FAMOUS ACTOR TEACHES SOLDIERS HOW TO ACT.

(By International News Service.)

Camp Devens, Ayres, Mass., March 6.—After five months in bed, five months on crutches and five months walking with the aid of a cane, James K. Hackett, the noted actor, is today enjoying army life at this big camp teaching the boys how to act. He is director-general of amusements for the Knights of Columbus, and is to make a tour of all the big army camps. He is showing the boys how to put on shows and how to amuse themselves by acting. "We don't need scenery—Shakespeare didn't," declared Hackett. "These men will learn the trick."

HAD HONEYMOON TRIP ABOVE THE CLOUDS

Lieut. Lawrence B. Sperry and wife (formerly Miss Winifred Allen), who were the first to experience a honeymoon above the clouds. The newly married couple left Governor's Island and airplane their way to Massapequa, L. I., the Sperry home, in 24 minutes. They claim this is the only way to really enjoy a wedding trip.

JAPANESE GIRLS SPEAK NO ENGLISH, BUT SEW.

(By International News Service.)

Denver, Col., March 6.—Although unable to speak a word of English Miss Fuku Endo and Mrs. Kimiko Fukushima, two Japanese girls just arrived from the Orient, are apt pupils at Opportunity School's "war work" classes. The two Japanese girls have learned to sew "the American way," and spend several hours daily at the school industriously working on garments for children of the Italian war sufferers.

SAN FRANCISCO WOMEN AVOID DUTY AS JURORS.

(By International News Service.)

San Francisco, March 6.—That mere man has not by any means obtained a corner on excuses offered to evade jury duty is indicated by the attitude of a goodly percentage of the one thousand women who have been summoned to service in the Superior Court during the ensuing year. Club details, Red Cross activities, antipathy to courts and society engagements are among the excuses offered by the women whose names have been drawn from the list of San Francisco voters. Many have ignored the summons altogether, and the officials are in a quandary as to how to discipline the fair suffragettes.

HUSBAND COURTS WAR, BUT NOT WITH SPOUSE

Independence, Kan.—A married man of this city recently returned his questionnaire and waived all his rights to exemption. When asked why, as a married man, he didn't take advantage of them, he said:

"Exemption be d—d. You don't know my wife. Say, man, I'd rather walk across No Man's land and back barefooted than live with that woman."

EXPERT WINDOW-CLEANERS BUY TOO MANY BUCKETS.

(By International News Service.)

New York, March 6.—Scalping coats by night and window-cleaners' overalls by daytime proved such a contrast as to result in the undoing of two clever New York thieves who are being held on the charge of jewelry robberies amounting to approximately $50,000.

The men gained easy access to exclusive homes by professing to be expert window-cleaners. They bought too many pairs of overalls and too many buckets from the same dealers.

And according to the history of window-cleaners, they dressed too well and spent too much money on Broadway at night—that is, too much for window-cleaners.

SEEKS DIVORCE BECAUSE WIFE DISLIKES UNIFORM.

(By International News Service.)

San Francisco, March 6.—Because his wife refused to meet him garbed in the uniform of the United States Navy, Alvin Quasdorf, a naval wireless operator, is asking a divorce in the Superior Court here.

At the outbreak of the war Quasdorf promptly offered his service to his country, and just as promptly lost his wife. He says that she has declined absolutely to have anything to do with him while he wears a uniform and that the rules of the service do not permit him to appear publicly in citizens' dress.

PRESENT PLAN ABANDONED

KABYLES PROVE POOR STREET CLEANERS AND SOLDIERS TO DO WORK.

By HENRY G. WALES, (International News Service Staff Correspondent.)

Paris, Feb. 14 (by mail).—Municipal authorities have finally had to abandon their scheme of cleaning up Paris through the employment of Kabyles, natives from French colonies in Central Africa. Several hundreds of the natives have been "working" in the capital for more than a year and have only succeeded in eliciting countless complaints from the public.

Kabyles, unlike the ordinary happy natives, are the gloomiest and most pessimistic race in the world, and all they have done, when sent out with brooms and brushes to sweep the streets, has been to stand mournfully on corners, and gaze ruefully on a world that they did not understand. The authorities also experienced great difficulties in inducing them to wear shoes, many of the natives taking off their boots and throwing them away as soon as they escaped for a moment from the watchful eye of the sergeant who accompanied them.

Complaints were made to the civic authorities urging that the Kabyles be barred from the subways and the street cars, as it was charged that they disseminated fleas and vermin on neighboring passengers. During an agitation on this subject the slogan was raised:

"The Kabyles may clean Paris, but who will clean the Kabyles?" Recently the natives here have been manning the "tanks," as the huge garbage and ashes collecting underslung automobile trucks that gather up the refuse of the capital are called. When they were first assigned as crews to the tanks the Kabyles were proud of the work they have grown dissatisfied and lazy again.

Soldiers will hereafter be used for cleaning up Paris and the Kabyles will be sent to the south of France in a warmer climate to work on military roads.
